A field guide to invented birds

Every bird in this guide was made up for testing.

See the herons on page 3.

Each chapter has a picture-free description and a call.

Marsh wrens

Small, brown and loud, the marsh wren sings at night.
It builds three nests and lives in one of them.

Herons

The grey heron waits by the reed bed for hours.
Every heron here is invented, down to its long neck.

Owls

The paper owl hoots twice before rain.

It never blinks.

Swifts

The ribbon swift sleeps while it flies.
It lands once a year.
